WINTER EDITION 2021

Wired to the Wilderness

A team of experts outfits a 15-bedroom hunting lodge in a remote part of Georgia. While overcoming the challenge of wiring a massive home hours from the nearest city, they also created an elegant yet masculine design that appealed to every member of the household.

The Birth of a New Room

The pandemic inspires a new type of room, the control center: a flexible space for video conferencing, remote school and recreation.

Connected Design Awards

The expert panel of judges chose the best of the best in residential technology.

An Addition All About Recreation

The expert panel of judges chose the best of the best in residential technology.

New Year, New Tech

A look at the smart home technology most relevant to the industry in 2022.
